

Holiday Greetings from the Taylors!

Jeff continues to put in long hours as a park ranger out at Bodega Bay on the Pacific coastline. He and Carrie are still living in the ranger residence in a park in Petaluma, surrounded by ranches and the beautiful Sonoma County hills. Carrie finished her Master's degree in speech pathology in September and has accepted a full-time position with one of Petaluma's school districts. Here they are along the "Extraterrestrial Highway" in the Nevada desert on one of their motorcycle road trips!

Greg keeps very busy with his job as a computer engineer at the Jet Propulsion Lab in Pasadena. JPL liked one of his designs so much that they've filed a patent! Check out this NASA website with cool photos from space: www.nasaimages.org

In his limited free time, he also continues to take classes towards his Master's degree at USC. Living in Manhattan Beach a block from the beach has its advantages, including being able to bike along the 20+ mile path to Santa Monica.

Bruce and Judy traveled to Alaska this summer and both agreed that it was one of their best trips ever. Instead of a typical cruise, they flew up to Juneau, and after a few days, took the ferry along the Inside Passage to Skagway, an old mining town. Renting a car at that point, they had maximum flexibility to go into the Canadian Yukon and all over Alaska, including Denali National Park, the Kenai Peninsula and Anchorage. For 2 ½ weeks they explored one of our most beautiful states, including its many mountains, waterways and glaciers, as well as the varied wildlife and native cultures.

Bruce is in his 13th year teaching Middle School history and English at Tehiyah Day School near Berkeley and still enjoys the students after 35 years of teaching. He took his classes to both Israel and Washington, D.C. this past year. Judy celebrated her 15th year with Brown-Forman and is still working out of Sonoma-Cutrer, one of BF's wineries in Sonoma County. Another milestone was attending her 40th high school reunion where she reconnected with many of her former classmates.

Wishing you all a Healthy and Happy 2010!

Judy and Bruce
